

Compliance and Enforcement – A Bottom-Line Approach to Culture, Sustainability, and Protection

2-Part Webinar Series

June 16 and June 24, 2015: 11:30 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

The enforcement and economic pressures on Home Health and Hospice providers continue to grow in today's increasingly aggressive regulatory enforcement environment. Whether implementing the requirements of the Affordable Care Act, preparing for the scrutiny of federal and state regulators, or sustaining a positive culture promoting ethical conduct in practice and application, compliance at all levels of your organization is critical to your bottom line professionally, and personally. From the US Department of Health and Human Services, the State Attorney General, or Medicaid and Medicare, Home Health and Hospice providers remain under continuing scrutiny, judgment, and attack from federal and state regulators, consumers, and even sometimes their own workforce. If the best offense is a good defense, then a strong and sustained compliance program is the winning game plan.

Designed for Home Health and Hospice providers, this program will address fundamental, but imperative strategies for compliance success, highlight enforcement trends and efforts by law enforcement and regulators, provide a framework for a strong compliance program, and offer insightful legal and practical tips and considerations for implementing and sustaining a compliance program that fits the needs and scope of providers big, small, and in-between. The goal of this series is to provide attendees with a working knowledge of the legal and policy issues facing home health and hospice providers, keys to compliance success, and practical considerations and solutions to real-life problems.

Objectives:

Part 1 – June 16:

- Review the prevalent fraud and abuse laws that impact the way providers do business and provide services.
- Discuss enforcement trends and efforts by law enforcement and regulators.

Part 2 – June 24:

- Describe the components of an effective compliance program and insightful legal and practical tips for implementing and sustaining a compliance program.
- Illustrate real life examples of compliance issues faced by home care and hospice providers.
